- b. Strike of Longshoremen (new item - continued)

The injunction invoked by the President under the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act expires on 24 December. The jurisdictional fight for control of the International Longshoremen's Association could erupt causing a shutdown of shipping in the area of the Port of New York Authority. The National Labor Relations Board has moved to New York to hold hearings and it is possible a decision to hold an election may be reached this week. As soon as the Longshoremen decide on their union, the ship operators will be in a position to attempt to negotiate a new contract. It is felt that there will be no trouble in negotiations with the old International Longshoremen's Association; however, should the new union be selected, the results are problematical.
